Each year over 600,000 Sandhill Cranes stop along the Platte River, bringing thousands of visitors from over sixty countries and all fifty states to witness one of the world's oldest and greatest wildlife migrations.

March 21-24, 2019, during the peak of the migration, we will host the 49th annual Audubon's Nebraska Crane Festival. Kearney becomes a hub for wildlife enthusiasts from around the world. Internationally acclaimed experts guide wildlife viewing tours, host panels, conduct workshops, and lead hands-on activities for participants of all ages. Exhibitors share the latest resources and information with avid learners throughout the event. On Saturday, a free Wild Experience Room invites families from around the state to explore the migration
